Pyramid texts.
The inscriptions in the pyramids of the viii and viii dynasty at Sakkara. They contain the earliest known text of part of the "Coffin" or sayings in the Book of the dead. They are contained in the later portions of that collection as transmitted on coffin and paper; but in these remains the conception of the status of the dead in the other world totally differs from that expressed in the inscriptions of the pyramids. (cf. E. A. Wallis Budge's introduc-

Raleigh, Sir Walter, 1552?-1618, supposed author. Select observations ... 1606. (Card 2)

The authenticity of this work is extremely doubtful. Though commonly attributed to Raleigh it was probably written by John Evelyn, author of Observations made upon the Dutch fishing about the year 1605. Cf. William Ostry, in his Life of Sir Walter Raleigh, prefixed to the History of the world. London, 1736. v. 1, p. clxxxv-clxxxvii. The only part here reprinted is a dissertation against John Locke, written by "J. C." and introduced into the body of the tract in his edition of 1806.

Ramírez de Arellano, Manuel, d. 1878. Les dernières heures d'un empire. . . 1869. (Card 2)

The second series was to comprise: 1. La trahison de Miguel Lopez
(1 v.), 2. Définition du général de Marquez (1 v.); the third series:
1. Perte de Querétaro de Maximilien (1 v.), 2. L'expédition de Mexico (though announced on the back cover of the first series, as "Ouvrages du même auteur", none to be published, presumably never appeared).

A Spanish version of the 1st series appeared under title: Últimas horas del imperio. Obra escrita por el general Manuel Ramírez de Arellano.
Cronología del hecho, y seguida de la consideración del sr.
S. J. Hugelmann. Mexico, 1869. The "Considerations" are omitted in this version.

Ramírez de Arellano, Manuel, d. 1878.

Últimas horas del imperio. Obra escrita por el general Manuel Ramírez de Arellano. <Tr. del francés, y seguida de las consideraciones del Sr. N. J. Hugelmann.> Mexico, Tipografía mexicana, 1869.

vi, 6-263 p. 16°.

The title is misleading. This seems to be the Spanish original; it is not followed by the "Considerations del Sr. N. J. Hugelmann."

The French edition appeared under title: Les dernières heures d'un empire. 1. série: Siège de Querétaro.—Traduction du général Marquez; par le général M. R. de Arellano. Considerations et traduction par G. Hugelmann.
Paris, Librairie internationale. . . 1869. The "Considerations du traducteur" are on p. 6-54. The second and third series, though announced on the back cover of the first series as soon to be published, presumably never appeared.

editions (in certain cases mere reprints) of Hammon's collection of voyages appeared in irregular succession and the title-page varies according to content. They are found variously combined into sets and described in bibliographies and catalogs. The following table gives a conspectus of the editions and reprints. A "Y" with the date indicates that an edition of that date has been mentioned by some bibliographer, but no proof of its existence in any library has been found. (cf. also Melvin, *Bibli.
